MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Delaware Military Academy is to prepare young men and women for their next level of education by providing them with a foundation that leads to good citizenship. Encouraged by military training, learning will take place within an environment that embraces both mental and physical health. This holistic approach to education fosters an understanding of the obligations of citizenship and self-discipline. In addition, cadets are exposed to positive moral ideals while being afforded opportunities to engage in appropriate social activities.

What makes DMA a unique educational experience?

- We have graduated 1,971 young men and women who have gone on to U.S. Service Academies, colleges, universities, the military, apprenticeship programs or the work force.
- We are the first, and only, high school in Naval Academy history to have four alumni graduate from the Academy in the same year (USNA Class of 2013)! Forty of our graduates have attended one of the military academies while another eighty-one have earned ROTC scholarships.
- Our NJROTC program is considered the “flagship of the Navy’s ROTC program.” The U.S. Navy has designated DMA a Distinguished Unit with Honors, the highest honor possible, every year of operation.
- We are the largest Navy Junior ROTC Corp of Cadets in the country - every cadet participates in our NJROTC program
- Our sixteen graduating classes have earned a combined $141,747,000 in scholarship monies
- Our cadets perform over 10,000 hours of community service every year!

DMA is an independently operated public charter school serving grades 9-12. The Academy is located south of the City of Wilmington and chartered by the Red Clay Consolidated School District.
